

WORLD'S NAVAL RACE BEGINS IN GREAT BRITAIN

English Will Lay Keels
For Two New Battleships

Limitations Treaties Expire
With The New Year

London, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Great Britain will start the world's naval armament race New Year's day by laying the keels for two great new battleships.

Naval limitation treaties expire at midnight tomorrow and the next day two 35,000 ton war craft will be begun to add to the world's greatest tonnage of 1,222,164.

(France, Japan, the United States, Italy, Germany, Russia and even the smaller powers have enlarged their naval programs the past year.)

The date was the earliest possible after the end of the Washington and London 1930 agreements denounced by Japan Dec. 27, 1934, and the early building program was regarded as a reflection of the British view that the pacts gave other powers vital advantages in the past and that this now must be remedied quickly.

An admiralty spokesman emphasized that the new war craft, the Prince of Wales, to be started at Birkenhead, and the King George V, to be built on the Tyne, would mount 14 inch guns "regardless of what other nations may do."

He referred to a prediction by Jane's Fighting Ships Gazetteer that two new United States battleships would carry 16 inch guns, despite the 1936 London agreement giving Japan until April 1 to decide whether to agree to restrictions of battleship armaments to 14 inches.

Regardless of future agreements, the first few days of 1937 at least will find no naval limitations of any kind, because Britain and France, who joined with the United States in the 1936 treaty have not yet ratified it.

The 1936 agreement not only restricted battleships to 14-inch guns, subject to the Japanese consent—but limited the size of cruisers and aircraft carriers.

Unless Japan consents by tomorrow to continuation of article 19 of the new treaty, there also will be no remaining restriction to prevent a race to build up fortifications in the Pacific.

Paris, Dec. 30.—(AP)—France will enter the world naval race of 1937 with a $372,000,000 program to supplement the "normal" schedule previously planned.

German rearmament and not expiration of the Washington and London naval agreements, is responsible for the increased expenditures, official spokesmen declared.

WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE "ADOPTS" BLACK CAT

Emporia, Kas., Dec. 30.—(AP)—"Copy," a black tom cat, was introduced to the Emporia Gazette staff today with this bulletin board notice from Editor William Allen White:

"I have, therefore, decided to add to our already extensive equipment one double-cylinder, T-model, repossessed cat. Be good to the cat! Don't let him feed in the melting pot and don't throw slugs at him for walking on the keyboards of the linotypes. The girls in the front office will feed him."

Managing Editor Frank Clough found "Copy" under his front porch with a broken leg.

Widespread Strikes And Glass Shortage Cut Car Production

Detroit, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Spreading strikes and the pinch of a glass shortage cut further into automobile production tonight and extended the curtailment of operations into hundreds of automotive supply factories throughout the country.

A "sit-down" strike in the Fisher Body plant No. 2 at Flint, Mich., left 1,200 idle and caused the Chevrolet Motor company to suspend operations in its assembly and delivery departments, sending 1,000 workers home.

The General Motors Corporation, whose units include both Fisher and Chevrolet, moved to stop or curtail the inflow of parts in excess of its production requirements, announcing "temporary stop orders" which were sent to hundreds of its suppliers scattered throughout every state.

Two hours after the Chevrolet assembly line halted at Flint, sixty workers of the day shift of the Standard Cotton Products Company, which supplies cotton filling for automobile seats to the Fisher plant, began a "sit-down" strike. They demanded a 20-cent an hour wage increase, an eight-hour day and time and one-half for overtime.

Four Fisher Body plants, at Flint, Cleveland, O., Atlanta, Ga., and Kansas City, Mo., are closed by strikes and negotiations for settlement have been deadlocked. The plant at Cleveland, which makes body stampings, shipping from there to other Fisher divisions, is the only one of the four that has not interrupted an accompanying Chevrolet assembly line. Union officials refused to accept a local settlement of the dispute.

The United Automobile Workers of America, whose members are engaged in the various strikes, has called a conference at Flint Sunday of union representatives from General Motors plants in ten cities to approve a collective bargaining agreement which will be proposed by corporation officials. The U. A. W. is affiliated with John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization.

Strikes in two auto parts and accessories plants, the Behm Aluminum and Brass Corporation Plant No. 3 at Detroit, and the Walker-Michigan Company at Jackson, Mich., continued tonight.

The primary reason for the General Motors orders to suspend or curtail parts shipments, a corporation official said, is the strike by the Federation of Flat Glass Workers which has paralyzed that industry for weeks. The Glass Workers' Union also is a C. I. O. affiliate.

Robert Travis, U. A. W. organizer, asked union headquarters at Detroit for $100,000 to finance the Fisher strike, and said fifty women who left the plant would set up a soup kitchen to feed the strikers. Persons carrying food must cross company-owned property to reach the factory. The management had not announced tonight whether it would resist such action.

Parts of South Dakota were covered by a six-inch snowfall which drifted and blocked highways. At Aberdeen, S. D., and vicinity electric service was being restored, but telephone lines were out of commission. Only one toll line of 53 at Aberdeen was in service.

Three hundred Navajo Indians, caught by a snow storm on the desert near Gallup, N. M., were rescued by trucks. Fear for the safety of others was expressed.

A windstorm unroofed several business buildings in the village of Cumberland, Ia., and scattered debris over the streets. Canton, Ill., also reported wind damage, while Springfield, Ill., had an all-time Dec. 30 high temperature of 62 degrees.

POPE WEAKENS; PRELATES CALL HIS RELATIVES

Decline Said To Be
"Slow But Continual"

Blood Clot Moves From Leg;
Fear It Will Strike Heart

Vatican City, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI weakened tonight in "slow but continual decline," Vatican Prelates said. Relatives were summoned to be within close call at all times.

Much concern was expressed over disappearance of a blood clot from his paralyzed left leg, and physicians feared it might pass through the blood stream into the heart or brain—with probably fatal consequences.

Absolute silence was ordered within the Papal apartments and the staff of nursing brothers increased its vigilance.

The 79 year old Pontiff, ill of partial paralysis of the legs and circulatory disorders, had rallied very slightly earlier in the day and disappearance of the blood clot was said to have lessened somewhat the pain in his left leg.

The Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano, however, spoke of the Pope's "acute torment," and only Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Vatican Secretary of State, could visit him today—for a brief period.

Dr. Amanti Milani, Pius' personal physician, remained in constant attendance.

His Holiness desires, the Osservatore Romano said, to bear his suffering "like a Pope, that is like the Father pastor and universal teacher, to bow to the Lord with readiness and generosity which serves as an example for all faith to the Lord who visits his most faithful son with special pains, with trying immobility, with momentary deprivation of his beloved audiences."

Prelates said the Pope hopes to live until he can see the procedure for Canonization of Pius X begun. For this, he received Cardinal Laurenti, prefect of the congregation of rights, yesterday.

The Pontiff is an enthusiastic admirer of Pius X and chose his name when elected to the Papacy.

Heavy Rain Halts Major Offensives At Madrid's Edge

53rd Day of Siege Passes;
Socialists Rejoice in U. S.
Plane Sale

Madrid, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Fascist troops engaged in sporadic skirmishes with Madrid defenders at the edge of the city today but the heaviest rain of the season forced a halt of major offensives.

It was the 53rd day of the siege. Fighting continued 20 in the southern Cordoba front, the government said, and artillery duels were reported from northern El Gueta and El Orrio near Bilbao.

Dispatches from Gijon on the northern coast said the fascist cruiser Velasco shelled Musel harbor, which provides access to Gijon, then sped away after turning machine guns on defending ships.

Officials, jubilant over the Madrid-Valencia government's success in purchasing armament from the United States firm, believed delivery would mark the turning point in the civil war.

The newspaper ABC remarked that "Wall Street doesn't bother about romantic ideas" in an argument that the sale did not violate the European non-intervention program.

The United States grant permitting the sale, officials contended here, established legitimacy of the Valencia-Madrid regime as the legal government of the republic.

JOHN L. LEWIS COMES OUT FOR AUTO WORKERS

Decline Said To Be
"Slow But Continual"

Blood Clot Moves From Leg;
Fear It Will Strike Heart

Cleveland, Dec. 30.—(AP)—The Cleveland Plain Dealer said John L. Lewis tonight put the committee for industrial organization squarely behind United Automobile Workers who are striking in Cleveland, Kansas City, Atlanta and Flint, Mich., in coming to grips with General Motors Corp.

Lewis, in Washington, told the Plain Dealer:

"The Committee for Industrial Organization stands squarely behind the United Automobile Workers in their demand for collective bargaining with General Motors Corp. as such."

"Obviously, attempts to settle this widespread confusion through local plant conferences and with plant managers devoid of authority would be a futile waste of time."

"The decision affecting what will occur in the automotive plants of General Motors is entirely in the hands of the officials of that corporation."

Cleveland, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Wyndham Mortimer, international vice president of the United Automobile Workers of America, in charge of the Fisher Body company employees' strike, said today the union "must make common cause with the glass workers who already have tied up the automobile manufacturers."

The strike reached a stalemate as union leaders refused to meet with Lincoln R. Scafe, general manager of the General Motors subsidiary plant, asserting the dispute must be settled on a national scale.

Nearly 7,000 workers were affected Monday when union employees in the factory's quarter-panel department inaugurated a "sit-down" because, they said, the management had delayed a scheduled conference with the shop grievance committee.

Mattson, Eldest Son Bring Back 'No News' On Mysterious Trip

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 30.—(AP)—A mysterious automobile trip which sent Dr. W. W. Mattson and his eldest son speeding through a suburb followed tonight upon predictions of a family spokesman that payment of $28,000 soon would be made to the kidnaper of the physician's youngest son, Charles, 10.

A short time after the Mattson automobile, containing the physician and William, 16, left the residence, it was seen traveling swiftly through South Tacoma, on the opposite side of the city from the doctor's home.

They returned in about an hour and the doctor was asked if there were any developments in the abduction of Charles Sunday night.

"I have nothing to say—not a thing," he answered.

Destination of the pair could not be learned, and little information was obtained about the movements of several other persons, including two possible intermediaries, who arrived at or left the Mattson residence during the day.

A source close to the family said the doctor was worried by reports $50,000 had been offered him by friends to win Charles' release from the abductors who flung a $28,000 ransom note in the home Sunday night as he made off with the boy in the presence of his brother, sister and a girl guest.

Mrs. Mattson was reported to be stoically calm and to have given a small luncheon. It was understood those who attended were by agreement required to withhold any comment about the family or what they happened to learn while there.

The two possible intermediaries visiting the home were L. C. Col. Gus B. Appleman and Paul Sevea, general manager of the Mount Rainier National Park Company.

First steps in the negotiations were begun by the family with the insertion of a classified advertisement in the Seattle Times in compliance with instructions in the note. No answer that could be identified appeared in the newspaper today.

Many other avenues, however, were left open for the kidnaper to contact the family, federal agents calling a "truce" in interests of the child's safety.

Appleman, "closest friend" of the abducted boy's father, sped away from the Mattson home on an undisclosed mission after a 40-minute conference with the family.

An hour later Appleman appeared at his downtown office and asserted he had gone there directly from the Mattson home, a distance of only four miles.

"Couldn't say there was anything significant," he told questioners. "No, I guess that's all."

Appleman, an army reserve lieutenant colonel, has been mentioned frequently as the probable intermediary.

The classified advertisement, appearing yesterday, said:

"Mable—Please give us your address. Ann."

The Times said that it was inserted by a middle-aged woman who paid cash and gave no name or address.

Shortly after Appleman dashed away John S. Strickland, private detective and friend of the boy's father, Dr. W. W. Mattson, also left the home, but refused to disclose his destination.

One source disclosed the crudely printed ransom note, signed "Tim," specified the $28,000 should be delivered in a model of automobile which has not been manufactured for years, and that the family could send "anyone."

This informant also said the note warned that the ransom demand would be doubled unless the $28,000 is paid by Sunday.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—(AP)—The Illinois State Attorneys' association after listening to a defense of the parole board by W. C. Jones of Streator, its chairman, tabled today a resolution recommending changes in the methods of appointing board members.

Jones told the attorneys, at the concluding session of their annual meeting, that from Jan. 1, 1933, to Jan. 1, 1936, fewer than 12 per cent of all Illinois parolees were returned to prison for any cause whatsoever, and only 3.55 per cent for commission of new crimes.

"Members of the board feel keenly their responsibilities," Jones said, "and are concerned with every parole violation. Mistakes will occur, however, and we do not pretend to be able to forecast correctly the reactions of every individual we free from prison."

"The accident occurred in the town of Celerina where the couple had driven from St. Moritz."

Jackson was thrown out and struck his head on a stone. He was taken to a hospital suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries. Miss Joyce was treated for less serious injuries in the same hospital. Their driver was also injured.

There will be a community watch night service at the Woodson Christian church this evening at 8 o'clock. The evening will be spent with a social hour, a candle lighting service and communion at midnight. Persons expecting to attend are requested to take sandwiches and cookies.

SPANISH WAR IS 'OUT' FOR DUCE; ADVISES HITLER

Mussolini Has No Interest In The Struggle

Reason Said To Be in Failure Of Franco To Win Quickly

Berlin, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini has dropped the Spanish fascists from his friendship list because of their delay in winning the civil war, reliable sources said tonight, and has advised Chancellor Hitler to do likewise.

Confronted with a crisis over Franco-British demands that enlistment of foreign volunteers to Spain be stopped, Nazi chiefs gathered here tonight to confer with Hitler on a course of action without the support of the Italian Premier.

Army leaders, recalling the Franco-Italian agreement to consult each other on European policy and that the two nations jointly recognized the fascist junta of Gen. Francisco Franco, were open bitter.

Some military leaders reiterated previous expressions of doubt that Il Duce was to be counted upon as a reliable ally in dealing with the problems of troubled Europe.

Mussolini, sources close to Rome said, had recognized Franco's government when it appeared that he was near victory and could establish quickly a Spanish fascist regime.

Now, with the war dragging along with little indication of advances by either Franco or the Madrid-Valencia socialist government, Mussolini was represented as having decided to drop any interest he may have had in the Spanish civil war.

He had suggested that Hitler follow a similar course, it was stated here. (There was no official comment.)

Rowe For Chairman

Republican voters of the entire Twentieth Congressional district will be pleased with the announcement that Richard Y. Rowe of Jacksonville is a candidate for the office of state chairman of the Illinois Republican Central committee. The announcement also will be hailed with much interest in other sections of the state, where Mr. Rowe is well and favorably known, due to a considerable extent to his arduous work during the last campaign as chairman of the state organization committee.

Mr. Rowe did not announce his candidacy for the high G. O. P. position until he was assured of strong support by members of other districts. No doubt he will have competition in seeking the party's leadership, but he possesses qualifications that should make him a formidable contender.

Mr. Rowe won wide recognition during the last state campaign when he took a leave of absence from his duties as an officer in the American Bankers Insurance company to head the Republican state organization committee. He originated the Rowe plan of organization which was used in all downstate counties by his party.

He is committeeman of the Twentieth district, which cut Roosevelt's 1932 majority by 2,614 votes and gave Landon 6,793 more votes than Hoover received in 1932. This was a total change of 9,407 votes into the straight Republican column despite a nationwide Democratic landslide that defied anything in history. An accomplishment of this kind, directed by Mr. Rowe, is sufficient to stamp him as an organizer and executive of unusual merit.

"I have faith in our party and want to preserve it and work for the maintenance of our form of government," Mr. Rowe said in making known that he is a candidate for the chairmanship.

Young enough to be militant and vigorous in shaping policies of the party; old enough to profit by experience and from the "voice of coin-cidence," the Jacksonville man appears to be in line for strong consideration when the state committee convenes at Springfield next Tuesday.

The Air Tragedies

The month of December has been marked by an unusual series of serious accidents to airplanes and their occupants. The latest and one of the most shocking was that of a United Air Lines plane which crashed against the side of a mountain Sunday night on a scheduled flight from San Francisco to Los Angeles.

The death toll in this accident was complete, the three members of the crew and nine passengers having met instant death when the plane had its wings torn loose at the peak and the body crashed in a mass of wreckage at the bottom of a canyon.

Twelve days before, another transport plane was lost in a flight between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles, and the fate of its seven occupants remains unknown.

Two pilots were killed in a crash of a plane of the Northwest Airlines near Spokane.

At Dallas, Texas, six were killed in a practice flight at an army air field on Dec. 23.

These cumulative disasters bring to mind the series of fatal accidents to army planes carrying air mail in February, 1934, when the sudden transfer of air mail service was made from private to army service planes.

This year also saw two instances of almost miraculous escapes of plane passengers when lucky landings were made by a ship in a vacant lot in a Chicago suburb, and another on a mountain side near Port Jervis, N. J.

The worst airplane tragedy of the year occurred last January when 17 persons met death when a plane plunged into an Arkansas swamp.

In view of these tragic and shocking incidents, which are accorded sensational treatment in the press throughout the country, the public is apt to overlook the vast number of planes and their passengers which make flights every day of the year without mishap either to the ship or passengers.

Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport association, summarizes the results of air transportation for the year by saying that the safety record of flying in 1936 has been substantially the best ever made. Of the 1,140,000 passengers carried by plane, 45 lost their lives on scheduled air-planes. Striking an average from the number of persons carried and the miles flown, Gorrell says that it works out that a person might fly 100 miles an hour for 17 years, one month, three weeks and 21 hours before meeting with a fatal accident. The fatal accidents can't be guaranteed never to occur in airplane flights, but their rarity is testimony to the genius of airplane makers and the men who fly them.

In spite of these reassuring figures, however, the element of hazard in airplane travel is higher than in other forms of transportation. Weather is a larger controlling force in flying than in other forms of transportation, and winter time is a special period of risk. Therefore, it is not surprising to note that most of the major accidents in planes occur in the winter months. Weather conditions, no doubt, were largely responsible for the series of tragedies occurring this month.

Canine Fidelity

The story of a dog's faithfulness which has touched the hearts of millions has come to an end.

On entering a Rock Island hospital 12 years ago, a man told his dog, Shep, to wait outside. On the following day the man was taken from the hospital by another door; he had died.

For 12 years the collie waited at the hospital door for his master, and just the other day, after an automobile struck him, he struggled to crawl back to his accustomed place. Hospital attendants saw that they could not help Shep, so they called the police, who shot him.

It is to be hoped that Shep right now is frolicking happily about his master's heels, enjoying his well-earned reward. For if ever a dog revealed to human beings how faithful a companion can be, that dog was Shep.

Mountain Justice No. 2

Only a few days ago in this column we referred to the 20 year prison sentence imposed on a West Virginia mountain girl who killed her father. We ventured an opinion that the girl received about 2 years for the actual murder, and 18 years for rebelling against her father, for in the southern mountain regions their code is very much against domination by women in the home.

Another kind of mountain justice was reported this week from Jackson, Ky. The mother of a young man who was slain on Christmas eve took a pistol with her to the court room where the alleged slayer was to be arraigned. She opened fire in the crowded court room, killing the youth accused of slaying her son, and wounding two spectators.

Mountain justice, again. The mother no doubt believed that the death of her son could not be fully avenged unless she put his murderer out of the way, personally.

Such incidents are rather common in the hills of the south, where justice is viewed with a peculiar slant by many natives. They are loath to accept the law as it is written, attempting to make their own laws. Mountain justice usually brings more tragedy, more unhappiness, into the lives of those involved.

Indians Had Toothache

It may offer but little consolation to the Twentieth Century inhabitants who suffer from aching molars and bi-cuspids in this age, but inquisitive persons have discovered that the inhabitants of the Salt River valley during the 13th and 14th centuries suffered arthritis and toothaches, just as the modern people do. These discoveries were made by archeologists who examined a weathered skeleton of a man found in a wall of the Pueblo Grande ruins.

The skeleton, measuring five feet in height, was the 12th found in the ruins during the last two years. Pointing to the enlarged kneecap and abscessed teeth, J. D. Hayden, one of the research workers, said:

"This fellow was probably too weak or too ill to migrate with the members of the tribe when they left the Salt River valley because the soil became water-logged. 'You see his teeth are in pretty bad shape. He probably had an awful toothache. His knee is swollen, too, which indicates a bad case of arthritis.'"

Railroads a Bulwark

The heavy expenditures of the railroads in Illinois counties in 1935 have been further analyzed in a statement by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, showing railroad contributions in taxes, payroll and purchases in Champaign county. As the state organization of business men intends to eventually supply factual information on railway expenditures in 70 Illinois counties, it is probable that statistics for Morgan county will be included. These, as the figures compiled in other counties, would show that the railroads are a bulwark in local government at tax-paying time, in addition to the revenue they supply throughout the year.

The figures concerning railroads and counties are published by the State Chamber of Commerce in an attempt to show the average citizen what would happen to his income, his tax bill and perhaps even his job if the railroads were forced out of business. The folders distributed by the C. of C. also present a strong argument for the productivity of all enterprise and its direct relationship to the prosperity of a given community. An appeal is made to the selfish instincts of the average tax-payer, citizen to protect his own pocketbook and the figures are segregated into county totals to further this type of appeal.

The Champaign survey, for example, shows that the railroads spent $103.25 per family in the county during 1935. The railroads employed 947 Champaign county citizens; paid wages totaling $1,586,241; taxes amounting to $126,956 and purchased supplies totaling $36,932. The combined contribution to Champaign county prosperity was $1,750,129 or $4,794.87 spent daily in the county.

"Consider the effect on your pocket-book," says the State Chamber of Commerce statement, "if Champaign county lost an industry spending $103 annually for each family in this county—any action hurting this one and a half million dollar spending Champaign county industry is going to hurt you."

The statement is a powerful force for the revival of interest in railroads. No one can deny that the railway industry pours thousands of dollars into each county treasury annually, that would be lacking if the railroads were not a part of the community. Making the public appreciate this contribution is another thing, and the State Chamber of Commerce has set out to impress the value of the railroads on everybody.

A New Year—Live it right!

The following interesting item was taken from a recent issue of The Brushville Bugle, edited by Clay Mudd:

"The poverty social was a real social event Friday night. Some of the costumes created much merriment. Miss Mitzie Mimmelte walked off with first prize with the most original costume, which consisted of a pair of leather hip boots formerly worn by her grandfather."

SUNSHINE!

Dip your pen in sunshine, black clouds will roll away;
Live well in the present, gone is yesterday.
Dip your pen in sunshine, bid de-pression go.
With gratitude and kindness let your good words flow.

Wife—Why are you positive your husband is faithful?
Friend—He never looks scared when I tell him he talks in his sleep.

Beth—Do you believe in long engagements?
Jane—Yes, I think young couples ought to be happy as long as possible.

On the business train the successful man always rides in the cab with his hand on the throttle; the failures will be found on the back platform with their feet on the rail.

People with red hair do not have any worse tempers than those with black, brown, white, or no hair at all. And red doesn't mean any more to a bull than any other color.

A hobo knocked at the door of a home recently and asked for a bite to eat. The lady of the house said: "Lady—You don't look like a man who should starve for the lack of work. Why don't you get a job?"

Hobo—I would, lady, but everybody wants a letter of reference from the last man I worked for.
Lady—Well, why not get it?
Hobo (backing away)—Because, madam, he has been dead for 20 years.

The more some people tell you the less you know.

Politeness is much like an air cushion. There may be nothing in it, but it eases our jolts wonderfully.

SUCH FAITH

Such faith as you have shown in me in words can't be expressed. I don't deserve it—but it makes me want to do my best.
There's nothing half so precious in my life as your rare trust—And I shall prove its not misplaced. In all things I'll be just.
If I be tempted to do wrong, your trusting face I'll see
And I'll select the path that's right, to guard your faith in me.

Sam—Well, Ah done learn to add up all de noughts, but de fingers still bother me.

There is only one key in the world with which you can unlock the door to success and you own it.

Removal of Tonsils and Adenoids
Will Improve Child's Appearance

By DR. MORRIS FISHBREIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

It is not at all certain that any child with adenoids is mentally deficient. Enlargement of the adenoids, however, tends to give him an expression known as an "adenoid face," which in itself is associated with stupidity. A youngster with such an expression has his mouth open all the time, his eyes staring and a little dull.

The lines leading from the sides of the nose to the mouth are smooth, exaggerating the narrowness of the face and thinness of the nose, and thus tending to enhance the appearance of stupidity. Moreover, constant breathing through the mouth may make the palate high and pointed, and thus interfere with proper growth of the teeth.

It should be obvious, therefore, that definitely enlarged or inflamed adenoids ought to be removed. Since this condition usually is associated with enlarged and inflamed tonsils and adenoids often are removed at one operation. This type of operation has been done so frequently that it is known in all hospitals as the "T and A" operation.

Removal of a child's adenoids is not at all a difficult operation. It involves a simple cutting procedure with a special apparatus, and is carried out under an anesthetic. It does not require a very long time.

The degree of improvement that a child may show following this procedure is so obvious and significant that anyone who has once noted it would not hesitate when confronted with the necessity of such operation. Parents frequently ask whether it is possible to treat adenoids with various drugs which might be applied directly, with X-ray, or in some other way which would not involve an operative procedure.

Unfortunately, none of these methods has any certainty in its application, and none of them can be considered anything more than a temporary palliative.

The operation, as I have already mentioned, is not serious or difficult, and results in complete removal of the adenoid tissue, with a wide opening for breathing space through the nose.

Occasionally, however, even a small portion of the adenoid tissue which is left may again become infected and enlarged, so that there are instances in which the adenoid operation has to be repeated some three, four, or five years after it is first done in a small child.

This does not mean that the first operation was not satisfactory. It means merely that in that particular child the amount of adenoid tissue was excessive, and the infection persistent and large.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington—A host of writers have voiced their views on the familiar questions of what will happen under Roosevelt in the next four years and will the president "turn right or left?"

Certain of these forecasts are much more important than the others and the cream of the crop to date—in this writer's opinion—are recent articles by Dr. Stanley High in Liberty, Ernest K. Lindley in the Nation, and Dr. Rexford G. Tugwell in the New Republic.

All three writers are personal friends of Roosevelt; all three have discussed his policies with him.

High was one of the half dozen men closest to Roosevelt in the campaign and one of a trio which worked intimately with him on his speeches.

Lindley, a first-class reporter, as well as perhaps the most intellectual of the Washington correspondents, was Roosevelt's authorized 1932 biographer and has written probably the best available evaluation of the New Deal in "Half Way With Roosevelt."

Tugwell was once the president's top brain-truster and is likely to be an influential adviser in future months.

F.D.R. Expects Barrages

Roosevelt expects to be assailed from the right for going too far and from the left for not going far enough, according to High. He indicates F.D.R. is ready to take to the radio against certain newspapers if they repeat the distortion and misrepresentation of which the president feels they were guilty in the campaign.

Roosevelt will go ahead with policies for the regulation of business monopoly and economic power, High believes, but not until he first tries to win voluntary cooperation from business. High predicts, however, that "prestige of money as a power in government will almost certainly decline in the next four years—as it declined in the last four."

Further predictions: The U. S. Chamber of Commerce and business lobbyists will have less authority. Roosevelt believes he can balance the budget without new taxes, but if new taxes are necessary they will be imposed as far as possible on higher-income brackets.

The president hopes the landslide election endorsement will influence the U. S. Supreme Court to a much more liberal attitude toward New Deal laws, says High, but if there's no change Roosevelt is likely to propose various constitutional amendments.

War or Peace Big Factor

Roosevelt, High suggests, would most of all like historians to be able to say that because of his New Deal "freedom and free institutions survived and were strengthened."

Lindley points out that future New Deal history depends on whether we have war or peace. He's sure Roosevelt would resist "the economic and emotional suction that would be applied to us," but isn't confident we could keep out of a European war.

If business wants to preserve an "era of good feeling," Lindley says, it will have to accept collective bargaining, maximum hours, minimum wage, and anti-child labor legislation "where it is needed."

The president will concentrate on rounding out reforms he has begun or publicly suggested. Lindley expects, big business men to cooperate in national planning, attributing it partly to ignorance of economic facts.

Jerseyville Shoe Firm Gives Bonus

International Company Distributes $8,000 Among Employees

Jerseyville.—The International Shoe Company announced Monday that it is making adjustments in the day rates and piece rates paid in its manufacturing plant. The adjustments begin on Jan. 1, 1937.

This company has continued to operate under the minimum rate and maximum hours established by the NRA code and has made no change in either since the NRA was declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court.

The 400 employees of the Jerseyville factory received a distribution of approximately $8,000 in bonuses on Dec. 15. In each instance the bonus was equivalent to one week's pay on a forty-hour week basis and the maximum amount received by any individual worker was $50. The average was about $20. Officers and directors of the company were not included in the benefit distribution.

Richard Bowen is superintendent of the Jerseyville plant.

Funeral services for Daniel Ayres, infant son of Daniel and Mary Whorton Ayres, were held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Dec. 27, from the Gubser funeral home in Jerseyville. Rev. W. L. Hanbaum, pastor of the local Methodist church, officiated and interment was in the East Newbern cemetery.

The child died at the home of its parents near Tourville on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 26. It was one month and sixteen days of age.

Employ Teacher

The Board of Education of the Jersey Township High School held a special meeting Saturday evening at the office of Secretary W. O. Wilson. At that time D. C. Hughes of Donola, Ill., was employed to fill the vacancy in the J.T.H.S. faculty occasioned by the recent resignation of Kingsley Wientge.

Wientge, who taught classes in mathematics and English at the local school, has accepted a position to teach in one of the schools in St. Louis county, Mo.

The new faculty member was graduated from the University of Illinois in 1936 with a Bachelor of Science degree. He will begin his duties here when school reconvenes on Jan. 4 after the Christmas holidays.

New Year's Will Be Day of Quiet After Strenuous Evening

City Plans Complete Holiday Friday to Relax from Festive Events

Business houses of the city will be closed all day New Year's, as they are on Sundays. The local post office will also be closed. New Year's day will be a general holiday in the city, which will doubtless be spent in relaxation by most of the inhabitants, after a more or less riotous celebration of the arrival of 1937.

Several big fetes are being planned, which will include dancing through the midnight hour. Watch parties will be numerous. Refreshments of all kinds will be plentiful. Midnight noise will be available for all who are awake to hear it. Thus the first day of the new year will be mainly one of rest, with big dinners for most people and an afternoon of further relaxation or celebration, as the choice may be. The day will officially end the holiday season, though schools and colleges of the city will not resume activities until the following Monday, Jan. 4.

If small indentations are counted, Maine has more than twice as much coastline as Florida.

Jacksonville High Invades Franklin; Rockets Play At Roodhouse In Games Tonight

Jacksonville high basketballers were looking ahead today with little pleasure to the game with Franklin high tonight on the Franklin boards, and Coach Wallace Baptist was wondering just what he could do to bring his Rockets out of the slump they hit at Franklin Tuesday night. The Rockets will furnish part of the New Year's eve festivities at Roodhouse high's gym tonight when they tackle the Railroaders.

Franklin, buoyed up by their victory over Routt, the first they have won against a team which used a zone defense effectively, had high hopes of running their string of victories to three over teams from this city. The Flashes earlier this year turned back I. S. D., when the Tigers invaded their gymnasium, and Tuesday night's victory over Routt, not only bettered their standing in the county conference, but also gave them two wins over county seat teams. A win over the high school Crimsons is about all Coach L. E. Loughran wants for Christmas this year.

The Crimsons went back to their holiday training with renewed vigor as the result of the decisive margin by which the Flashes beat the team that beat the Crimsons last before Christmas. Dope doesn't mean as much in basketball as it does in some other sports, but nevertheless, it is considered as an indication of what to expect.

May Shift Line-up
Coach Frank Walker, who returned early this week from Urbana, where he spent the Christmas week-end with his parents, is considering a shifted line-up for the game at Franklin. He may decide to use Ray Abel and Charles Johnston as guards, Baptist center, and Dick Baldwin and Charles Ketter in the forward positions, with Fred Leeper and Mervin Henry as reserve forwards.

Walker wants more height for the game with the Flashes, because they are plenty big. He hopes to work out something that will keep Rawlings, lanky sophomore center from Franklin, from getting close enough to hoop to do his work, and to keep Bryant from banging away from inside the front line of the defense. Belk, another big fellow, who gets in around the hoop for some of his work, doesn't do much scoring but is valuable in getting the ball off the bankboard.

The Crimsons will take two teams down there tonight, with the first game slated to get underway about 7 p. m. and the main tilt about 8:15 p. m.

Rockets at Roodhouse

Routt will play its second game of the holiday season at Roodhouse, against another big team, and on a court somewhat larger than the one they have been operating on. The team also appeared to be suffering a bit from the holiday lay-off at Franklin, but had the highest respect for the Flashes after the game there Tuesday.

Baptist probably will stick to the line-up that won from J. H. S. and then lost to Franklin, with Shanahan and Harmon at forwards, Perry at center, and Hanley and Beerup guards.

Routt will take two teams to Roodhouse, the first game beginning between the second strings at seven o'clock and the main game about 8:15. Jacksonville high has a game New Year's night at Mt. Sterling. Ashland will get back into action the same day at Easton. Saturday, White Hall will go to Hillview, and Beardstown will play at Pittsfield.

FAN BREEZES:

Jacksonville high apparently is heading for trouble tonight. Franklin high's victory over Routt indicates that J. H. S. is going to be in for a warm evening.

Franklin has something to shoot for tonight—three wins in as many starts against teams from Jacksonville this year. If they hit the target, it will be the first time in the history of the school that this has been accomplished.

Franklin was plenty hot against the Rockets, we hear. This boy Rawlings, Franklin center, has developed a shot similar to the one John Norris, now city policeman, made famous back in his high school days.

The shot is made backward, over the head, while going away from the basket. Rawlings rolled in five field goals against the Franklin team, which broke a jinx of failing to score against a zone defense.

Elmer Morthole, the former Plymouth high school coach, who is now coaching cross country and assisting with track at Elmhurst high, declares that Elmhurst has a sprinter who will win the state championship next year. His name is Monihan, and he has red hair.

Morhale is spending his Christmas vacation with his parents here. His cross country team won second place in the West Suburban league conference, near Chicago, for the second straight year, and the former J. H. S. and Illinois College trackster believe he will have the stuff to win the championship next year.

Paul Stone, former Franklin and Waverly high coach who is now located at Maple Park, near DeKalb, also has been spending part of his Christmas vacation here. He plans to leave today for his home in order to be on hand for the finals of the annual holiday basketball tournament at DeKalb teachers college.

Bluffs high grade school basketball players will appear in their next game clad in new uniforms, a gift from Santa Claus. Lee Korte, who coaches the team, will have the boys in their new togs next Wednesday when they play the Franklin grade school team.

The new uniforms are of solid shirts and royal blue pants, with royal blue numbers on both the front and back of the shirts.

Big Twelve conference schools are thinking up ways to keep the spectators amused during the halves between basketball games. Springfield high has been taking a couple tumblers along with their game bags away from home, and over at Pekin two football players from the high school team were matched in a boxing exhibition.

Illinois U. Wins From Bradley T.

Open Up in Second Half to Win, 43-33

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 30.—(AP)—Illinois opened up in the second half tonight to conquer Bradley Tech, 43 to 33, in a basketball battle played before 4,000 spectators.

Successfully bottling up Louis Boudreau and Tom Nisbet, the star Iliad forward pair, in the first half, Bradley had a 17 to 14 lead at the intermission. The shooting of Carl Schunk, who collected 15 points on seven field goals and a free throw during the evening, provided Bradley with the bulk of its first-half margin.

In the second session, however, Boudreau, although still closely guarded, displayed brilliant ball-handling and floor play to feed Nisbet, Captain Bob Riegel and Wib Henry. Riegel dropped in three field goals in the first few minutes of the second period, sending the Iliad into a lead they increased steadily.

Nisbet paced Illinois with five field goals and six free throws for 16 points.

Lindstrom Will Go Back to Baseball

To Ask for Reinstatement in Club He Quit

Chicago, (AP)—Freddie Lindstrom, once the "boy wonder" of baseball, is going back to the game he quit in disgust when he deserted the Brooklyn Dodgers last May.

Convincing from a broken right arm, Lindstrom decided today to apply to Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, for reinstatement so he can rejoin the Dodgers if Manager Burt Hooton wants him. Otherwise, he may hook up with another major league club or become a radio broadcaster in Chicago.

His arm, broken last November in an automobile accident, now is in perfect condition, Lindstrom says. The cast has been off two weeks.

"I tried it out for shooting and it worked okay," Lindstrom said. "It bends properly and there are no muscle aches. It seems to be as good as ever."

Lindstrom, at 31, believed he still has at least four years of major league baseball left. He quit the Dodgers because he said he was no longer able to earn his salary. Injuries had forced him to the bench and he sat there brooding over his misfortune. He finally decided, all of a sudden, to quit. He left Brooklyn that night to go into the Wisconsin woods for a rest to bring himself together.

News Notes
Dr. A. D. Wilson of this city proved Tuesday morning that he is not only one of our best physicians, but an excellent boxer, police officer, judge and jury. About 9 a. m. Dr. Wilson drove to his office in the Hodges building at the northwest corner of the square. Parking his car on the corner, and leaving his medicine case in the car, he went into the office. In a short time he looked out of a window and noticed a man in a wind-up, hastening to the car the doctor found the man tearing at the side of the locked medicine case from which he had already torn a hinge. Wilson grabbed the man and pulled him from the car, and with a sound left upper cut sent him to the street. Getting up, a cringing "dopey" looking mortal, the prowler, although he weighed over 200 pounds, covered before the doctor, who again seized him and slapped his face soundly, the man begging that he not be arrested. Dr. Wilson seeing that the unfortunate was a "dope" fiend, turned him around and with two well directed kicks, told him to get out of town. The man broke into a run and when last seen was heading for the north city limits. There is no doubt that the man was looking for drugs.

WHERE AIRLINER CRASHED IN MOUNTAINSIDE AND THREE OF TWELVE PLUNGED TO DEATH

In this twisted wreckage on the side of a ravine 20 miles northwest of Burbank, Calif., searchers found the bodies of 12 persons who were plunged to sudden death when a San Francisco-Los Angeles airliner hurtled into the mountainside while seeking an open landing place in the San Fernando Valley, two ridges away. Bodies of the pilot, stewardess and nine passengers were found in what remained of the fuselage, shown in the foreground. The disaster was the fourth involving a commercial airliner in two weeks. Fifteen persons were killed or missing in the other three crashes.

Here are three of the 12 victims of the nation's most recent major airline disaster—the crash of a San Francisco-Los Angeles twin-motored Boeing in the mountains near Burbank, Calif. Mrs. Ford, of San Marino, Calif., died with her husband, the son of Edward Ford, vice president of the Grace Lines Steamship Co. Stewardess Yvonne Trego, 24, a native of Hastings, Mich., was engaged to be married. The last message received from Pilot Blom, of Burbank, stated: "Wait a minute." Officials believe the plane crashed a few minutes later.

REAL TRAINING ENDS FOR PASADENA PLAY

Pasadena Calif.—(AP)—The Rose bowl football campaign reached the knife and fork stage today.

With luncheons and dinners scattered about Pasadena, coaches and graduate managers braved indignation in the name of alma mater while Pittsburgh and Washington stood ready to move into the big bowl itself, after strenuous practice on the outskirts.

Today brought real training to an end. Washington's Huskies had one last workout on schedule and tomorrow will only go through the motions.

The Pitt Panthers were packed and ready to sprint the last mile to the battlefield after one more tussle at San Bernardino for tapering off purposes.

Tomorrow will bring only signal practice, passing and kicking for both teams but it will be under actual playing conditions in the big bowl, stretched out to hold slightly less than 88,000 customers.

DAN B. THOMPSON CALLED BY DEATH

Mr. Leonard of Bluffs was also a guest, who made a few remarks. Mr. Frank Vedder, president, will have charge of the next meeting.

Local Collegians Get Cold Around Wicket As Gentlemen Connect From All Distances

Centenary college's touring Gentlemen can go back to Shreveport, La., with at least one victory over a Little 19 team, mainly because Illinois College's Blueboys last night couldn't hit the side of a barn if they were on the inside trying to get out. The Blueboys kept peppering away with short range guns, while the Gentlemen, particularly Snyder, shot from any place inside the middle of the court to ring up a 28 to 26 victory here.

Only Virgil Fletcher of the Blueboys seemed to be anywhere near himself in the matter of scoring, and his 13 points were mostly self-manufactured. All of the fine team play was still with the local team, but when it came to poking the ball through the pay off mesh, they just weren't there.

Centenary produced a driving attack, filled with blocks but their speed didn't baffle the Blueboys, nor did the blocks cause Illinois much trouble. Snyder was the big noise for the Gentlemen, flinging in 12 points, and getting his field goals from anyplace inside the middle line of the court. The rest of the Gentlemen were content to wait for scoring chances close to the wicket, and they cashed in on seven of those.

Offense Still Clicks

Illinois' offense wasn't stopped, but hitting the bucket seemed to be checked through misfiring by the players themselves. "Swampy" Miles failed to connect with a field goal after the first four minutes of play, and he was the boy the Blueboys were breaking into the open for shots. Herb Scheffler, likewise, wasn't stopped, but his usual accurate pitching over his head just didn't find the hoop. Nick Watts, who usually hangs in a couple field goals during a game, went scoreless, and Cecil Fletcher, playing around a big protective bandage on his damaged jaw, couldn't find the hoop.

Illinois had a 6-2 lead in the first few minutes of play, but the visitors had tied the count at the end of five minutes, and were out in front 10-8 at the middle of the first half. They gradually worked the lead up a bit longer, and at the end of the first half were out in front 19-13.

The Blueboys cut the margin down to a single point, 21-20 with ten minutes of the second half gone and seemed to be on their way out of the doldrums, but they slipped again, and with five minutes to go, Centenary had a 23 to 22 lead. In the last four minutes, Virgil Fletcher scored four points, two from the gift line, while the Gentlemen went into a half stall to protect their lead. Fletcher's field goal didn't come until the last half minute of play.

Quincy college's team failed to put in its appearance and in a telephone conversation with Athletic Director Van Meter stated that it was underplayed there that the game was to be played next January 29.

The gymnasium was a little over half filled for the game.

Three Contenders For Big Ten Place

Illinois and Michigan Pushing Hard for Place

Chicago—(AP)—On their tune-up performances to date, Purdue, Indiana, Northwestern and Iowa were generally rated as strong contenders for the Big Ten basketball championship—but the dopests whispered a warning today against selling Illinois and Michigan short.

Purdue's Bollermakers won seven straight games, scoring an average of 47 points per contest. Indiana, with Butler still to be met, won five straight impressively, while Iowa, with Marquette its final opponent, won six tilts. Northwestern, which will play Notre Dame tomorrow night, has a fast, smooth-passing five.

But the Illinois and the Wolverines have shown enough to indicate they are capable of defeating any team in the conference. Illinois, with sophomores Lou Boudreau and Tom Nisbet playing sensationally, won three games and lost one, to DePaul, 31 to 25.

The Illinois passing game failed to click against DePaul while the Demons, who almost whipped Purdue in a 33-45 sizzler, had a good night, sinking shots from all angles in the first half. Even in defeat the Illinois squad looked good.

Michigan, after a long train ride, lost to Washington by a wide margin in the opening of a three game series, then came back to take two straight overtime decisions and convince Wolverine fans that the squad has plenty of courage as well as shotmaking ability. Any team having a Jack Townsend is a dangerous one.

Chicago, Wisconsin, Ohio State and Minnesota, on their showings thus far don't rate in the first division, although any one of these upsets which will affect the tie decision.

Wisconsin, which has won four and lost two tilts, faces trouble tonight from DePaul. The Badgers have been weak at center, where DePaul has a star in Nick Yost. Illinois opposes Bradley's young team. Ohio State, which has won three games and lost two, goes against the University of California at Los Angeles. The Buckeyes, after losing to California Saturday, came back against the Bears for a 30-26 win Monday night.

BILLY LYNN HURT IN COLLISION HERE

Billy Lynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lynn, of Springfield Place, suffered an injury to his head early last night when the bicycle he was riding collided with an automobile driven by Albert Smith of Alexander. The accident occurred at the intersection of College avenue and Main street.

The boy was taken to Our Saviour's hospital, where it was found that he is suffering from a cut on the back of his head. The injury is not considered serious.

AUTOS COLLIDE

Automobiles said to have been driven by Bernard Bergschneider, 524 West Beecher avenue, and James Stewart of Westminster street collided at the corner of Westminster and West State streets at 11 o'clock last night. While both automobiles were damaged the occupants escaped without injury.

The Bergschneider car was going east on State street, while the Stewart car was going west.

On Recovery Trail

New York, Dec. 30.—(P)—In one of the broadest upturns of the past several weeks, the stock market today swung back on the recovery trail for gains 1 to 2 points or more.

A few "thinly" traded issues got up as much as 6 or so and fractional advances were widespread.

The list surged forward in the face of fresh labor upsets and an unusual volume of year-end "cash" selling for the purpose of establishing profits or losses for income tax returns.

At the same time signs of slackening in the industrial pace were few. "Iron Age" sounded an optimistic forecast of the continuance of active steel mill operations well into next year. Electric power output was off less than seasonally and well above the same period of 1935. Railroad earnings and traffic expansion were on the upgrade, and Christmas retail sales were estimated at some 12 per cent ahead of the similar preceding holiday.

Trading in stocks attained only moderate momentum throughout the greater part of the session, although the ticker tape speeded up a bit just before the final gong.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues had a net gain of 12 points 70.1. It was the largest since advance of this composite since 27. Transfers totaled 2,305,070 shares compared with 2,280,642 yesterday.

Hog Prices Rise
On Low Receipts

Chicago, Dec. 30.—(P)—Hog buyers hastened to acquire stock today after receipts fell below expectations and stockyard officials decided to close the market Friday.

This lifted prices 10 cents in some cases, with light weight swine showing the most strength. Top remained at $10.50.

Receipts were 4,000 head less than the advance estimate indicated. The trade had a cleanup character, with buyers anxious to fill the week's requirements in view of the fact that there will be no market New Year's Day, contrary to custom. The market will be open Saturday, however.

Cattle prices advanced to a new high since February when prime steers sold up to $13.25. Some weighty bullocks scaling 1,400 pounds also brought this price. Practically all grades of cattle were at new 11 months peaks while bulls, gaining another 25 cents, were $1 higher than a week ago.

Fat lambs developed a downward trend late in the session and some sales showed losses of 10 cents. Others, however, were at unchanged prices. The lamb top was $9.75.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

THE GREAT BEAR

CONSTELLATION WAS KNOWN AS SUCH BY BOTH THE NORTH AMERICAN INDIANS AND THE ANCIENTS OF THE OLD WORLD.

SINGING IN THE BATH TUB

IS AN OLD ROMAN CUSTOM!

"SUNT MULTI, QUIQUE LAVANTES, SUAVE LOCUS VOCI RESONAT CONCLUSUS" ... from HORACE.

TRANSLATION:

"THE BATHROOM FOR SOME, AS THE WALLS IT SURROUNDS, MAY SWEETEN THE VOICE AND MAKE BETTER ITS SOUNDS."

LOONS

HAVE BEEN TAKEN ON FISH HOOKS AT A DEPTH OF 90 FEET!

ALTHOUGH the stars in the Great Bear are not arranged in any way suggesting a bear, the constellation has gone by this name since the dawn of civilization. It was known by that name in Asia, Egypt, Greece, Rome, the far north, and, when America was discovered, the Indians were found to be calling it "the Bear and the Hunters."

NEXT: How many buffalo were there in the primitive herds, roaming the American plains?

Post Office Nears Finish of Work on Social Security

Register 3,283 Persons for Numbers Here; Board May Establish Offices

The post office is about to complete its part of the work in preparing for the administration of the Social Security Act, which goes into effect throughout the nation Friday.

The local office has issued to date 3,283 numbers to registrants, and will continue to register applicants and issue numbers for social security accounts.

All employed persons and those unemployed are eligible to register and obtain numbers. Even those whose present employment exempts them from the operation of the act, may register, as they would likely need the numbers if they should change employment.

The local post office has not yet been requested to carry administration of the act any further. It is likely that district offices will be established by the Social Security Board to carry forward the actual administration.

Forms 940, which are provided under Title IX of the Social Security Act, commonly referred to as the "Unemployment Insurance Title" were sent to all potential taxpayers of record on November 10, 1936, and should be filed by employers who employed eight or more individuals, on or before January 31, 1937, for the taxable calendar year 1936. Forms 940, released yesterday to all taxpayers of record, must be filed monthly after December 31, 1936, with the Collector of Internal Revenue.

These forms, which are prepared in quadruplicate, cover taxes on both employers and employees, and must be prepared and filed by the employer and not by the employee. Employers must list the number of employees and the total of taxable wages paid during the month on each of the four copies, all of which should be filed with the Collector of Internal Revenue. This return must be filed even though the taxpayer has been required to file a return on Form 940 under the provisions of Title IX of the Act, which is a calendar year return.

The monthly returns, together with remittances, must be in the hands of the Collector of Internal Revenue by the last day of the month succeeding the one for which the return is made. The first monthly return required to be filed under Title VIII is for the calendar month of January, 1937.

Consolidated returns for parent and subsidiary corporations are not permitted.

Every employer subject to the tax must keep sufficient records to show whether taxes are correctly computed and paid. Regulations 91, which are applicable to Title VIII, are available for distribution in the collector's office and may be secured on request.

Penalties. Failure to file a return on or before the last day of the month succeeding the one for which the return is due will make the employer liable to a penalty of 5 to 25% of the tax, depending upon the length of the delinquency.

To avoid a penalty for failure to file a return within the time required by law, inasmuch as taxpayers are not exempt from incurring a penalty by virtue of not having received the appropriate form, a tax return, Form 940, should be requested from the collector of internal revenue, Springfield, Illinois, if one is not received on or before January 10, 1937.

Employers and employees are each required to pay a 1% tax on payrolls and wages for 1937, 1938 and 1939 under Title VIII of the Social Security Act.

ASK APPROPRIATION. Washington—(P)—A plea for a $25,000,000 emergency federal appropriation to combat the spread of syphilis and gonorrhea was made today by a meeting of state and territorial health officers.

Arthur T. McCormick, Kentucky health commissioner, told a sectional group of the conference on venereal disease that the figure would cover the cost of an adequate control program.

Debate Tourney to Be Held in Detroit Or Jacksonville

Possible Tournament Cities for 1937 Meet Narrows To Two Contenders

National Forensic League executives have narrowed the list of possible tournament cities for the 1937 meet down to two contenders—Jacksonville and Detroit, Michigan. Jacksonville is still in the running because the league's secretary was very favorably impressed with the local set-up during his recent visit here. Detroit is still in the running because Mr. Bond, the man who was to report to the council on Detroit, is sick and unable to attend the meeting. His report will be forthcoming in a few days, however. The other cities which were campaigning extensively for the honor of playing host to the young speakers have been eliminated after careful consideration of their facilities. The two top contenders of this group were Sioux Falls, South Dakota, and Minneapolis, Minnesota.

All of this looks extremely favorable for Jacksonville, it is reported. But no final conclusions can be drawn until the last word is heard from the N.F.L. leaders in their conference at St. Louis. It is believed that this last word will be received before the end of another week.

Local business and educational leaders were awaiting eagerly yesterday afternoon for the message which Bruno Jacob, the N.F.L. secretary, had promised would announce the final decision. Instead, the following telegram came to Harold Gibson, high school debate coach:

Selection Postponed
"Illness has prevented Bonds attendance at our meeting so final action on selection of tournament city postponed until we can get report on Detroit. Choice is now definitely to Jacksonville or Detroit. Council members present appreciate Jacksonville interest but feel Michigan city (Detroit) entitled to consideration of report before matter is closed. Bruno E. Jacob."

Interest among the townspeople, particularly those more or less directly connected with the high school, has risen to an almost feverish intensity within the last few days, when the possibility of having nearly thousand students, teachers, judges and speech authorities from all parts of the United States together in Jacksonville seems nearer and nearer to being a reality. Speech "blitzes" agree that competitive speech work, including debate and all forms of individual speaking, is probably further advanced in the high schools of the country than in higher educational circles. And the National Forensic League has as members all of the outstanding high schools which have made a name for themselves in forensic activities.

Bruno Jacob stated before he left Jacksonville Tuesday that he was very well satisfied with the organization here for running the tournament. He confided to the group of business and educational leaders with whom he met Monday night that he would definitely "pled Jacksonville's cause" at the meeting of the N.F.L. council. Mr. Jacob stated that the high school, churches, colleges and home of the city were all very advantageously located for the running of the tournament.

Detroit Has Attractions
However, Detroit, being a large city, would have many attractions. The reasons for choosing Jacksonville over Detroit might be the following: (a) That J.H.S. is the only school in the United States that has qualified six times for participation in the national tournament, while River Rouge, the leading Detroit high school in speech work, has only recently risen to the upper strata in this field. (b) The citizens of Jacksonville are more "speech conscious" and probably more ready to cooperate in the staging of the tournament. (c) If the old plan of alternating from year to year between a big city and a small one is followed, it is time for a small city, the last one being held in Oklahoma City. (d) The schools, churches, colleges, and business district here are located as to be easily accessible. Last year in Oklahoma City the J.H.S. team had to drive 27 miles every morning collecting the students from the homes in which they stayed. (e) Jacksonville already has a committee of civic minded men working behind the Chamber of Commerce and the high school in readiness to hold the tournament.

Of course, this is seeing the matter through the eyes of Jacksonville enthusiasts, but these facts also seemed to impress Mr. Jacob, the league secretary.

The final decision may not be received for a week yet, but will certainly be prepared by the end of that time.

School Board Votes To Reject Bids On Lafayette Lockers

Will Call New Proposals On Lockers and Cases for New Building

The board of education at a special meeting at one o'clock yesterday afternoon adopted a resolution rejecting all bids for supplying lockers and wall cases at the new Lafayette grade school building. It was decided to advertise for new bids immediately.

Members of the board had previously expressed opinion that the bids were too high, most of them aggregating about $6,000. The board made a brief investigation of the locker market, with a result that it decided to call for another set of bids.

The call for bids will be submitted to PWA officials for approval and early action is expected, so that the lockers and cases may be secured and installed within a few weeks.

Work on the new building is progressing satisfactorily according to reports submitted at the meeting. The building is expected to be ready for occupancy by the start of the second semester, about February 1.

W. D. Cody Acquires 2 Farms in County

Buys Old Farrell and Bull Farms Aggregating 556 Acres from Bank

More than 500 acres of Morgan county farm land has passed to the ownership of W. D. Cody of this city recently as a result of sales made by Nelson W. Greene, receiver of the Avers National Bank. Mr. Cody, who has other real estate interests in both the city and county, is understood to have made the recent purchases for investment.

The old Farrell farm located just north of the city on the Sandusky street road, consisting of 226 acres, was sold by the receiver to Mr. Cody for a consideration of $7,000. This is mostly bottom and pasture land, there being no improvements on the place at present. The farm is under lease to John Wells.

Mr. Cody also purchased the John J. Bull farm of 330 acres, located south of Franklin. This being a private transaction, the sale price was not announced, but it is reported to have been in the neighborhood of $60 an acre.

R. C. Taylor, Virginia Bank President, Dies After Closing Notice

Virginia, Dec. 30.—R. C. Taylor, president of the Peoples State bank of this city, died suddenly at 9 o'clock tonight from a heart attack, only a few hours after announcing that the bank would begin immediate voluntary liquidation.

Mr. Taylor, who earlier in the day prepared public statements to effect that the bank was ready to quit business and would pay depositors and stockholders in full, was seized with a heart attack about 1 p. m. at the bank.

He was attended by Dr. J. A. McGee, and was removed to his home in Massie's ambulance. His condition at the time was not regarded as serious. He collapsed suddenly tonight and died within a short time.

Announced Bank's Closing
Death followed an announcement that was considered the most important in local business circles in some years, when Mr. Taylor and associates made public the fact that at the close of business today the Peoples bank was discontinued in voluntary liquidation and deposited with the Petefish, Skiles & Company bank, the only remaining bank in the Cass county seat.

Officials said there were sufficient funds to cover all deposits and demands of their customers.

It was said tonight that the work of preparing for the change fell heavily on the president's shoulders, and that the strain of the negotiations may have induced the sudden heart attack. Mr. Taylor was known as a hard worker and spent many hours at his desk preparing for liquidation of the institution.

A native of Cass county, he was about 68 years old. He was an extensive landowner.

Wife Was Local Woman
Mr. Taylor's wife, the former Charlotte Stryker of Jacksonville, preceded him in death a number of years ago. He is survived by two sons, Henry, cashier of the Peoples bank, and Robert of Chicago.

His full time had planned to devote after the business of the bank had been disposed of, to his farming interests.

His remains are at the Massie Funeral Home. No funeral arrangements have been made.

The change has been contemplated for some time by officers and directors of the Peoples bank on account of increased governmental and other taxes and regulations to control banks under the F.R.C. and other state regulations, as there seemed little prospect to make a profit in the banking business.

The Peoples bank was organized as a private corporation on Jan. 19, 1918 by R. C. Taylor, Jas. Maslin, Edwin Campbell, D. Brockhouse, and the late Wm. Sudbrink, S. S. Savage and Angus Taylor. R. C. Taylor has been president of the bank since its organization.

Under the revised statutes of the state of Illinois, a bank must choose one of two methods of voluntary liquidation; one method is to deposit sufficient cash with the state auditor at Springfield to pay all deposits and other demands; the other is to select a bank in the same or an adjacent city to pay deposits and other demands.

Held Conference
After conferences between the directors of the Peoples, Skiles and Co. bank and the Peoples bank, the Peoples bank asked the Petefish, Skiles and Co. bank to accept the office of distributing funds or carrying on accounts for their customers, depositing with them sufficient funds on Dec. 30th to cover all deposits and demands.

In this way the transfer caused no inconvenience nor delay to the depositors of the Peoples bank will find their funds available at the Petefish, Skiles and Co. bank for their use and service. Had the funds been deposited with the state auditor, depositors would have been forced to await the pleasure of the auditor for their funds.

R. C. Taylor had been in the banking business in this city for the past 42 years, having served in various capacities in the old Farmers National bank before being hesitant to speak of his achievements in the banking world, it is a well-known fact in this community that Mr. Taylor was a level-headed and capable business man. This fact was very much in evidence at the time of the bank moratorium, when the Peoples bank stayed open one day longer than any bank in the state, and as soon as the moratorium was declared lifted, was opened at once with the Peoples bank, a record which was not equaled by any bank in central Illinois. Depositors had such confidence in him at this time, that only one customer demanded his account in cash.

At the time the Peoples bank was organized, because of Mr. Taylor's previous experience, he was able to invest funds in choice commercial paper at a 9% discount, making it possible for the bank to pay stockholders a dividend of 8% the first year.

Individuals or groups who may be interested should communicate with Mr. Hermann of the YMCA or phone 1168-W.

Court Makes Ruling In Burned Bus Case
Federal Judges Decision Favors Standard Oil Company, Defendant

Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle this week at Springfield ruled in favor of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana in a $25,000 damage suit filed against it by the Jacksonville Bus Line Co.

The plaintiff had contended that one of its buses was destroyed by fire at Murfreesville on Oct. 24, 1935, when the bus, to avoid hitting another car on Route 67, swerved into a Standard Oil bulk tank and crashed into it. The truck's taillight was damaged and released a quantity of gasoline which was ignited by a nearby bonfire. The resultant conflagration destroyed the bus.

The court, in handing down the decision, based its action on an amended bill filed by the defendant in which it was maintained that the bus was trespassing at the time of the accident.
